1. About Us

Welcome to Australian Unity Bank Limited ('Australian Unity', 'we', 'us', or 'our'). We offer banking, financial advice and insurance.

As an organisation that routinely returns profits to our customers through low fees, competitive interest rates and attentive service, Australian Unity is a genuine alternative to the big banks.

Like the banks, we have a comprehensive range of financial products and services, we operate under the same regulations and share the same government guarantees on our savings products. But, unlike the banks, we are not beholden to shareholders. This difference is critical as we are not conflicted at any point in our dealings with our customers.

We are authorised to provide the financial services and products as listed in this Financial Services Guide under our Australian Financial Services Licence (AFSL) 237994.

2. What is the purpose of the Financial Services Guide?

We have designed this Financial Services Guide (FSG) to assist you in deciding whether to acquire financial services from our organisation.

The FSG provides you with information in relation to:

- What financial services we can provide you;
- Your entitlement to receive product disclosure information and when this will be provided;
- Information about who Australian Unity acts for when providing products and services issued by another institution;
- Information about remuneration paid to Australian Unity and other persons in relation to the financial services offered;
- Any associations or relationships that may influence Australian Unity in providing any of its services;
- How we manage your privacy; and
- How we deal with complaints and disputes.

3. What financial services can we provide?

Our AFSL authorises us to deal in and provide financial product advice on the following financial products:

- Deposit and payment products including:
 - Basic deposit products;
 - Deposit products other than basic deposit products; and
 - Non-cash payment products.
- General insurance products; and
- Consumer credit insurance products.

In addition to the financial products and services we provide under our AFSL, we also deal in and provide advice on consumer and commercial lending products which are covered under our Australian Credit Licence.

4. On whose behalf do we provide financial services?

When we deal in general insurance or consumer credit insurance products, we do so on behalf of other product issuers. Details of who the relevant product issuer is will be included in the Product Disclosure Statement which will be provided to you upon request, when you enquire about, or acquire the relevant product.

5. What additional information might I receive?

When we provide you with a financial product, we may also provide you with a Statement of Advice or Terms of Use document, as described below.

6. Statement of Advice

If you are provided with personal financial product advice, we may also issue you with a Statement of Advice (SoA).

The SoA sets out information such as:

- A summary of the advice provided to you
- The basis for the advice, and
- Details of any arrangements or relationships we have with product issuers.

The SoA helps you to make an informed decision about whether to act upon the advice that has been provided to you.

We are not required to provide you with a SoA if our advice relates only to our basic deposit products and non-cash payment facilities.

7. Terms of Use

Terms of Use provide you with essential information about a financial product offered by Australian Unity so that you can make an informed decision about whether or not to acquire the product.

We must provide you with Terms of Use about a financial product or service when:

- You enquire about, or we provide financial product advice on the financial product; or
- We issue, offer to issue, or arrange the issue of, the financial product to you.

Terms of Use about a financial product or service include, amongst other things:
